China's Fading Government At Mercy Of Reds

Refusal Of Big Four To Mediate Civil War Blow
To Nationalist Hopes

TOTTERING REGIME MOVES TO CANTON

NANKING, Jan. 20.—(INS)—China's fading Nationalist government virtually admitted today it has been thrown to the mercy of victorious Communist armies because of the refusal of the Big Four powers to mediate the civil war.

Red spearheads simultaneously were conceded to have stabbed to within 60 miles of Nanking as nearly all government agencies began fleeing the imperiled capital.

A Nationalist military spokesman announced government forces have abandoned Kaoyu, 60 miles northeast of Nanking, and now are defending positions about six miles to the south.

The spokesman said the last of the Nationalist troops at Pengpu withdrew yesterday from the rail junction, 100 miles northwest of Nanking, without fighting. He added that reports of previous government evacuation of Pengpu had proved "untrue."

Garrison Retreats

He said the Pengpu garrison troops retreated to Linkuankuan, 15 miles to the southeast, where they set up a new defense line after blowing up the Pengpu bridge across the Hwai river.

These latest military developments were disclosed as the government faced the alternative of object and complete capitulation to the Reds or a fight to the end that might result in total ruin for the remaining Nationalist units.

An official statement announced formal rejection by the United States, Russia, Britain and France of a Chinese request for government request for outside mediation.

Move To Canton

Accordingly, the Nationalists' last chance of escape from under a possibly destructive war to the finish appeared to have vanished. The tottering Nationalist regime, meantime, began moving

State highway officials report the snow which fell intermittently throughout the night on local highways was blown away as fast as it fell. No calls for cinder crews were received during the night. Very little impression has been made yet this winter on the huge mountains of ashes which have been put in place for use on the roads.

Last year at this time, by way of reminder, city and county residents were just snapping out of a several days below zero cold spell.

Mrs. Flora Swisher, resident of M. Jackson has an amaryllis plant in her home with four large lilies in bloom at the present time. The plant is attracting quite a bit of attention.

Window frames are being installed in the new city building on North Jefferson street. Once the building is enclosed, workmen will be enabled to proceed rapidly with interior work.

Boys and girls of city schools are hard at work preparing for suitable programs in commemoration of the birthday anniversary of Abraham Lincoln which occurs just about three weeks from now. Various art classes are making objects that depict the early life of Lincoln. Windows and walls of the schools are also decorated in keeping with the anniversary.

President Is Driven Through Cheering Crowds

Led by a "V" formation of motorcycles, President Harry S. Truman is driven through the cheering crowds along Pennsylvania avenue to the Capitol building for his inauguration, at noon today.

Peace And Freedom Program Theme Of Inauguration Speech

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—(INS)—Harry S. Truman, inaugurated today as the 33rd president, condemned communism as a "false philosophy" and pledged America's might to a relentless struggle for a "just and lasting" peace on earth.

The Chief Executive, after taking his oath of office, eloquently asserted his determination to lead in a fight against the "deceit and mockery, poverty and tyranny" of communist regimes.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—(INS)—President Truman today denounced communism as a "false philosophy" and pledged the might of America to wage the "cold war."

Good Weather In Nation's Capital

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—(INS)—Inauguration Day dawned clear and cold in Washington.

A bright sun shone from a cloudless sky this morning as the crowds started assembling along Pennsylvania avenue for a parade that was not due for five hours.

The temperature at 8 o'clock was 31 degrees but was expected to rise to 42 by mid-afternoon.

Million Mass In Washington For Inaugural

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—(INS)—A million of his countrymen massed in Washington today to salute Harry S. Truman, a stout-hearted man from Missouri.

Mr. Truman, who entered the White House at a tragic moment in the nation's history, who inaugurated as president in his own right amid scenes of celebration perhaps never paralleled in this capital city. The 64-year-old chief executive and the 71-year-old vice president-elect, Alben W. Barkley of Kentucky, were central figures in a shining and gigantic American drama.

The elements of that drama are evident everywhere in Washington, in the crowds, the gaudy banners, the martial music and the carefree spirit of a people again at peace.

On the 41st inauguration day, the people of Washington and the half-million visitors who thronged into the city throughout the week were in mood to celebrate joyously and spectacularly.

This mood mounted to a climax as the crowds began swarming into position before the capitol this morning, where District of Columbia police said at least 120,000 witnessed the inauguration, as other hundreds of thousands had positions along started Pennsylvania avenue to watch the inaugural parade.

until the totalitarian governments join free nations in a guaranteed peace.

The Chief Executive, after taking his oath of office as president, solemnly asserted the United States will support free democracies not only against their "human oppressors" but also against the "world's ancient enemies—hunger, misery and despair."

For Peace And Freedom
In his inaugural address, broadcast to the world, Mr. Truman pledged the vast resources of the United States to a four-point "program for peace and freedom."

He said calmly: "We need not have war."
His plan is:
1. Unflinching support of the United Nations.
2. To "keep our full weight behind" (Continued on Page Two)

March Of Dimes Under Way Here

Kiwanis Club Members Will

Campaign Here

$10,000 GOAL IS SET FOR COUNTY

With a goal of $10,000 sought for Lawrence county, the annual March of Dimes campaign here in the interests of the cure and prevention of infantile paralysis, got under way here yesterday, at the weekly luncheon meeting of the New Castle Kiwanis club, which will handle all phases of the local campaign.

Mayor John F. Haven started the drive with a talk to the members of the club, in which he praised them for their interest in such a worthy campaign.

Case Load Heavy
He cited the fact that 21 cases were cared for in Lawrence county last year, five of them being carried over from the preceding year, with 16 new cases being reported for assistance. In this work, a total of $3,951.67 was spent locally.

Because of the large number of serious epidemics throughout the country last year, the fund of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis was exhausted, and a larger amount is needed to carry on the work, both locally and nationally, a number of the cases which occurred here during the year being still active and requiring further treatment.

Director Of Drive
Russell H. Forney was then introduced as director of the Lawrence county campaign, and he in

An estimated 120,000 persons were massed before the majestic gray capitol building, and District of Columbia police said that a total of at least a million persons, great throng in Washington history, had gathered to salute the stout-hearted Missourian.

INDEPENDENCE, Mo., Jan. 20.—(INS)—An estimated million-dollar fire swept through four buildings in President Truman's home town of Independence Day.

No injuries were reported. Firemen battled the blaze in seven-degree-above-zero temperatures.

Fire Chief V. A. Kincade said the blaze started in the basement of the Independence Hardware company and spread to three nearby buildings.

Kincade said paints and oils were stored in the basement of the hardware company.

Kincade expressed belief the blaze was caused by "spontaneous combustion."

The buildings are located at the southeast corner of Independence Square.

School Musicians Gather Here From Six-County Area

Prepare For Midwestern
Festival Orchestra
Concert Saturday Night

Sixty-eight student musicians registered at the Cathedral lobby in a strange town with instruments, baggage and instrument cases soon gave way to a well organized program for assigning lodging and morning rehearsal rooms.

Later, the first practice sessions got underway in various rooms of the Cathedral when sectional assignments were made. Each of the students met with other talented musicians from the six-county area representing 21 different high schools, according to the instrument they played. Under the guidance of one of the visiting musical directors, tryouts were held to determine chair positions in the instrumental sections.

Luncheon Respite
Lunch in the west dining room of the Cathedral offered a brief respite from the rehearsal and gave the visitors an opportunity to get acquainted with boys and girls from other high schools, including the 25 participants from New Castle senior high.

At 1 o'clock the entire orchestra staged their first full rehearsal under the direction of Theodore K. Karhan, guest conductor, whose responsibility is to mold the talented group of musicians into a well-coordinated, versatile orchestra.

After a two-hour rehearsal this

The chief executive's sister, Miss Mary Jane Truman, and a number of other relatives accompanied the nation's first family to the stately edifice just across Lafayette Square from the White House.

The Rev. C. Leslie Glenn conducted the brief service, intoning prayers for divine guidance of the president, the congress, and others in position of authority.

Highlights Of Truman's Inauguration Address

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—(INS)—Highlights of President Truman's inaugural address:

The Presidency

"I accept with humility the honor which the American people have conferred upon me. I accept it with a deep resolve to do all that I can for the welfare of this nation and for the peace of the world."

The Nation's Challenge

"Today marks the beginning not only of a new administration, but of a period that will be eventful, perhaps decisive, for us and for the world."

America's Goal

"The American people desire, and are determined to work for, a world in which all nations and all peoples are free to govern themselves as they see fit and to achieve a decent and satisfying life."

"Above all else, our people desire, and are determined to work for, peace on earth—a just and lasting peace—based on genuine agreement freely arrived at by equals."

Communism vs. Democracy

"In the pursuit of these aims, the United States and other like-minded nations find themselves directly opposed by a regime with contrary aims and a totally different concept of life."

Report Progress On Truce For Egypt-Israel

RHODES, Jan. 20.—(INS)—Egypt and Israel were reliably reported today to have reached "working agreement" on the last and most crucial item of their armistice talks—establishment of truce lines.

From sources close to both sides it was learned that each had agreed that the truce lines dividing their forces should be straight, and as short as possible.

Seeking Gains

Observers interpreted this agreement as leading to the acceptance of the Palestine-Egyptian border as the North-South truce line.

Still to be settled is the demarcation of an East-West truce line for the Arab coastal strip running from Gaza to the Palestine border.

It was believed that there would be little change from present positions along this strip when agreement is finally reached.

The negotiations are now said to be at the "hard bargaining" stage, in which both sides are attempting to gain the utmost in the detailed demarcation of territory.

Governors Of 26 States At Inauguration

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—(INS)—Twenty-six state governors—including some Democrats—helped into office by President Truman's two-fisted campaign—converged on the capitol to witness the inaugural rites today.

Ten others sent representatives. Twelve—including Mr. Truman's GOP rival, Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York—declined the invitation. However, Gov. J. Strom Thurmond of South Carolina, who headed the States' Rights ticket against Mr. Truman, was on the guest list.

The governors were flanked by large delegations of elated officials and party workers—most of them willing to credit their victory to the virtually single-handed battle by Mr. Truman—the man they didn't think could win.

Gov. Warren Not Present

Gov. Earl Warren was not with the California delegation. He accepted the invitation for his state, but designated Rep. Leroy Johnson (R) to represent him.

Two Democratic governors turned down inauguration bids. One was Gov. Fielding Wright of Mississippi, vigorous opponent of

Truman Cheered By Thousands At Ceremony

President Begins His New Term Of Office During
Noon Hour Today

ACCLAIM IS GIVEN INAUGURAL SPEECH

By JAMES LEE
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.

—Harry S. Truman reverently took the oath of office as the 33rd president of the United States today at 1:29 p. m. (EST) in the presence of a record inaugural throng.

Like Vice President Alben W. Barkley, Mr. Truman leaned to kiss the Bible on which he swore to "preserve, protect and defend" the constitution of the United States.

The chief executive, his silvery hair bared to the chill January breeze which swept the inaugural platform on the steps of the United States Capitol, pledged himself to lead the nation in a relentless fight against the forces of Communism and to seek peace and freedom in all the world.

Over 120,000 At Ceremony

More than 120,000 persons were massed before the capitol and more than a million jammed the inaugural parade route. The president's words as he took the oath and delivered his inaugural address were carried to them by loudspeakers throughout downtown Washington.

Countless millions throughout America and in nations overseas heard the ceremony and Mr. Truman's address via radio and the miracle of television enabled an estimated 10 million to watch the historic rites.

Ceremonies Late

So great was the crush of dignitaries on the inaugural platform that the ceremonies were 14 minutes late in starting. It was 12:14 p. m. when Mr. Truman, his high silk hat gleaming in the bright sunshine, emerged from the rotunda of the capitol and marched to his designated place.

The vast crowd which had filled the capitol plaza hours before the inaugural rites thundered a welcoming cheer. The president, at ease, poised, radiantly happy, chatted with Mrs. Truman and Chief Justice Vinson as he awaited the opening prayer.

His pastor, the Rev. Edward H. Pruden, minister of Washington's First Baptist church, intoned the prayer.

Few Americans Marry Jap Girls In Year And Half

TOKYO, Jan. 19.—(INS)—Figures released today showed that fewer than a dozen Americans in Japan have married Japanese girls during the past year and a half. This indicates no sudden lapse of GI matrimonial interest but is the direct result of an army order. After the August, 1947, rush to the altar to take advantage of the GI Alien Brides Act, the army banned marriages between soldiers and any women ineligible for American citizenship—except under unusual circumstances.

Takes Tough Attitude
The army takes a tough attitude. Pregnancy is not listed in its category of "unusual circumstances". Army authorities in Japan feel marriages between soldiers and Japanese girls should be blocked as long as present immigration laws prevent entry of the brides into the United States.

U. Alexis Johnson, U. S. consul general at Yokohama where all American weddings in Japan must be registered, reported Japanese-American marriages almost nil during the past 18 months.

During August, 1947, his office was swamped with business as soldiers and civilians alike rushed to marry their Japanese girl friends while they could still take advantage of the Alien Brides Act.

824 Marriages 1946-47
He said between the post-war opening of the consulate in May, 1946, and August, 1947, a total of 824 American men married Japanese girls. Most of the marriages were in August, 1947, and 80 per cent involved American Nisei.

Johnson said the army order issued shortly thereafter abruptly stopped the marriages. But he added it didn't stop Americans from falling in love with the local girls.

Johnson said inquiries about marriage procedure at the consulate have been as numerous as ever before.

Army officials said they had no records of the number of soldiers or army civilian workers who have applied for and been refused permission to marry Japanese.

Few of the requests ever get higher than the man's division commander.

Lawrence County Tuberculosis society will move their X-ray office from the city hall and their clerical offices from the Lawrence Savings and Trust building to a combined office on the fifth floor of the Greer building, North Mercer street.

At the same meeting Seal Sale Chairman John S. Syling presented a report of the 1948 campaign. The

Believe At Least Eleven Killed In Collision Of Ships

Coast Guard Probe Of Marine Disaster Off New Jersey Coast Wednesday

NEW YORK, Jan. 20.—(INS)—A coast guard investigation will be launched today in the pre-dawn collision of the ice breaker Eastwind which was rammed and set afire by an oil tanker off the New Jersey coast.

At least 11 were believed killed. Twenty other crewmen were injured or burned in what was described as the worst American marine disaster since the end of the World War Two. The collision occurred in a heavy fog.

The investigation will be conducted by a five-man coast guard board of inquiry headed by Rear Admiral Ed "Iceberg" Smith, famed for his rescue work in the North Atlantic.

The large casualty list on the $10,000,000 ice breaker was attributed to the fact that most of the men were below decks and asleep when the 10,195-ton Gulf Oil Company tanker Gulfstream crashed into the Eastwind.

None of the men on the Gulfstream was injured.

Kenneth Hemer; director of school collections, Deane E. Smith; director of motion picture and theater collections, Ben Finkle; director of industrial employees contributions, M. Postmaster William R. Hanna is chairman of the Lawrence County Chapter of the National Foundation, and is confident that the campaign here is in competent hands, and that the goal will be attained.

Chairman Forney stated that if everyone in Lawrence county gives just one dime, the goal will be easily reached, and is asking for the cooperation of every citizen towards this end.

virtually all of its remaining departments, including the foreign ministry, from Nanking to South China's leading city, Canton. Official archives went along to the south.

The United States and other foreign embassies and legations in Nanking were advised of the move. The foreign missions, however, indicated they would stay behind even after the Communists occupy Nanking. Moreover, it was not yet clear whether the Nationalists intended to establish a provisional capital at Canton.

The cabinet, known in China as the executive Yuan, awaited a Communist reply to its bid for a general armistice preparatory to formal peace talks.

coat, and striped trousers, the traditional garb for such momentous occasions.

Inauguration spectators stood or sat patiently for hours awaiting the beginning of the ceremonies. Some of the spectators were swathed in blankets.

The crowd before the Capitol steps stretched out almost as far as the eye could see.

Some of them jiggled to the music of the Marine Band, which blared out from amplifiers stretching the entire downtown area with sound.

A chill, cutting wind whipped across the inauguration stands, cutting the warming effect of the day's bright sunshine.

A few minutes before the president's arrival, members of the Senate and the House took their seats adjacent to the inaugural platform, representatives on the south side of the president and the vice president, senators on the north side.

Led by Chief Justice Vinson, who was assigned to the traditional duty of administering the oath of office to the chief executive, members of the supreme court took their positions, as did the members of Mr. Truman's cabinet.

All of the cabinet members were present except the retiring secretary of state, Gen. George C. Marshall, who is in Puerto Rico convalescing after the major operation which forced his resignation.

President Arrives

Mr. Truman arrived at the Capitol at 11:35 a. m. and walked briskly into the Capitol as a tremendous volume of cheers dinned in his ears, drowning out the music of the Marine band playing "Hail to the Chief."

Mr. Truman rode with Sen. Hayden (D. Ariz., chairman of the congressional inaugural committee, House Majority Leader McCormack (D. Mass., and Senate Secretary Leslie Biddle.

Vice President-Elect Barkley followed in a car with Mrs. Truman.

afternoon, the students will be provided transportation to the homes of their hostess for the next three days. Lodging and breakfast are being provided by the families of students and other civic-minded townspeople who are anxious to open their homes to the visitors.

Under the direction of Mrs. Marjorie Rhodes Nelson, high school assistant principal, adequate reservations have been made for all of the students and visiting conductors.

Matinee Sold Out

This morning's reservation and registration procedure was under the guidance of Miss Dorothy Young of the high school faculty who enjoyed the cooperation of other members of the faculty, the student body and the school administration.

Two more rehearsals and a dinner complete the first day's preparation for the concert.

Tomorrow afternoon's student matinee has already been sold out and ticket sales for the Saturday evening performance have been very brisk.

and stepped to the dais where associate justice Stanley Reed administered the vice president's oath of office.

Barkley's voice rang out loud and clear as he repeated the words of the oath, and there was a hush as he bent to the Bible to touch it with his lips.

Mr. Truman, who likewise wore an overcoat and a white silk muffler to ward off the wintry midday chill, walked swiftly to the rostrum.

He smiled quickly at Chief Justice Vinson. His voice, too, was calm and sure and resonant as he repeated the chief justice's solemn words.

Before the president took the oath of office, a prayer was offered by Rabbi Samuel Thurmmond of St. Louis, who at Mr. Truman's express request came to Washington to take part in the inaugural rites.

The rabbi hailed the president as "a champion of social justice" and prayed "may the people's confidence in him never wane."

The benediction which followed the inaugural address was pronounced by the Most Rev. Patrick A. O'Boyle, Roman Catholic Archbishop of Washington.

At 11:55 a. m. members of the senate filed into their places to the left of the presidential rostrum, at the inaugural platform.

As the moment of the president's arrival approached, the morning's chill wind died down and a comparative quiet fell over the entire area. The sky was cloudless. Neither Mr. Truman nor the inaugural committee could have ordered a more perfect day for January.

Members of the senate and house clustered along the outer rail of their section above the crowd and waved to friends they saw below while waiting for the president's appearance on the stand.

The Marine band rose to its feet a few seconds before noon, ready to burst forth with the familiar "Hail To The Chief."

There was a slight delay. During the interval, one veteran Washington correspondent observed that "we'd better get going, Mr. Truman is no longer president."

He observed that the president's old term expired at noon and that several minutes had elapsed since the noon hours was reached.

At 12:07 p. m., the cabinet filed in and took seats on the presidential platform.

At 12:10 p. m., Mr. Truman still had not put in his appearance on the platform, members of the Marine band still were poised with their instruments.

President's Family Arrives At 12:12 p. m., Mrs. Truman and Margaret were escorted to the first row of the platform to the right of the president's position.

Mrs. Max Truitt, daughter of the vice president, accompanied the Trumans.

At 12:15 p. m., the Marine band played "Hail To The Chief," the silk hats came off, and President Truman was escorted to the front of the inaugural platform with Barkley.

Chief Vinson, donning his black skull cap, administered the oath to President Truman and then grasped the president's hand for a firm handshake of congratulations. The president also kissed the Bible at the end of the oath.

The president shook hands with Vice President Barkley and Justice Reed and then with a businesslike manner turned promptly to the speaker's stand and began his inaugural address.

The president spoke with what seemed to be a new crispness in his voice as he swung into his soberly-worded foreign policy address.

High above him the January wind still whipped the American flag out straight but the brilliant sunshine continued.

Several times the president hesitated over his words but this may have been because the sunlight was partly in his eyes.

hind the European recovery program" while reducing trade barriers everywhere.

3. To "strengthen freedom-loving nations against the dangers of aggression" with U. S. participation in the North Atlantic Security pact and U. S. "military advice and equipment to free nations" cooperating for peace.

4. A "bold new program" to make U. S. scientific and industrial progress available to underdeveloped areas.

Mr. Truman bluntly denounced communism as the roadblock to peace.

But the President held the door to peace wide open to Russia and its satellites. He said:

"In due time . . . those countries which now oppose us will abandon their delusions and join with the free nations of the world in a just settlement of international differences."

Brings New Hope

The President said that the European recovery program, working for less than a year, already has turned away the specter of war.

He added: "Our efforts have brought new hope to all mankind. We have beaten back despair and defeatism. We have saved a number of countries from losing their liberty."

He said that the "initiative is ours" to build an "even stronger structure of international order and justice."

As he took over the presidency for another four years, Mr. Truman made this solemn pledge: "I accept it with a deep resolve to do all that I can for the welfare of this nation and for the peace of the world."

Decisive Period

"Today marks the beginning not only of a new administration, but of a period that will be eventful, perhaps decisive, for us and the world."

"It may be our lot to experience, and in large measures to bring about, a major turning point in the long history of the human race."

The first half of this century has been marked by unprecedented and brutal attacks on the rights of man, and by the two most frightful wars in history.

"The supreme need of our time is for men to learn to live together in peace and harmony."

Mr. Truman gave as his four-year goal: "Peace, plenty and freedom."

He said: "Above all else, our people desire, and are determined to work for, peace on earth—a just and lasting peace—based on genuine agreement freely arrived at by equals."

In building defensive barriers against aggression through such security pacts as the treaty of Rio de Janeiro and the North Atlantic area, the President said that:

"The primary purpose of these agreements is to provide unmistakable proof of the joint determination of the free countries to resist armed attack from any quarter. Each country participating in these arrangements must contribute all it can to the common defense."

"If we can make it sufficiently clear in advance, that any armed attack affecting our national security would be met with overwhelming force, the armed attack might never occur."

He said he will soon send the Senate a treaty covering the proposed North Atlantic Security Pact, and added:

"In addition, we will provide military advice and equipment to free nations which will cooperate with us in the maintenance of peace and security."

Must Have Prosperity To carry out the policies of "peace, plenty and freedom," the President emphasized "we must have continued prosperity in this country and we must keep ourselves strong."

Mr. Truman concluded on this solemn note: "Steadfast in our faith in the Almighty, we will advance toward a world where man's freedom is secure."

"To that end we will devote our strength, our resources, and our firmness of resolve. With God's help, the future of mankind will be assured in a world of justice, harmony, and peace."

HIGHLIGHTS OF TRUMAN'S ADDRESS

freedom, security and greater opportunity to mankind. Misled by this philosophy, many people have sacrificed their liberties only to learn to their sorrow that deceit and mockery, poverty and tyranny, are their reward."

The U. S. Program "Hundreds of millions of people all over the world now agree with us, that we need not have war—that we can have peace."

"First, we will continue to give unfaltering support to the United Nations, and we will continue to search for ways to strengthen their authority and increase their effectiveness."

"Second, we will continue our programs for world economic recovery. This means, first of all, that we must keep our full weight behind the European recovery program. We are confident of the success of this major venture in world recovery."

"Third, we will strengthen freedom-loving nations against the danger of aggression."

"Fourth, we must embark on a bold new program for making the benefits of our scientific advances and industrial progress available for the improvement and growth of underdeveloped areas."

The Future "On the basis of these four major courses of action we hope to help create the conditions that will lead eventually to personal freedom and happiness of all mankind."

Aspinwall Hospital Asking For Blood

ASPINWALL, Pa., Jan. 20.—(INS)—An urgent appeal for blood donors was issued today by officials of the Aspinwall Veterans Hospital, who said the lives of patients are threatened because of need of transfusions.

Tuesday physicians, nurses and other members of the staff gave their own blood after available supplies were exhausted. Earlier donors were rounded up by a telephone brigade to meet emergency requirements.

One of the "Critical" cases cited was that of a World War II veteran with a serious stomach ailment. Blood is needed immediately to continue transfusions designed to build up his strength for a necessary operation.

Officials said several operations have had to be postponed because blood was not available.

Wartime Hiding Place Revealed

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., Jan. 20.—(INS)—The wartime hiding place of some 60,000 type specimens of plants and many rare books came to light today when the University of West Virginia was awarded a bronze plaque by the New York Botanical Garden in recognition of its service.

The plant specimens and books were sent to the university in 1942 when it was feared New York City might be bombed.

The plants and books arrived in a dozen large metal cases resembling steamer trunks, and were stored in the chemistry building throughout the war.

No more than a half dozen persons knew of the hiding place. Type specimens are the parts used for classification purposes when the

Boy Scout Week Program Planned

Local Scouts To Take Over City; Plan Public Exhibits And Church Service

National Boy Scout Week, February 6 to 12, marks the 39th anniversary of the founding of the Boy Scout movement in America. The scout officials have mapped out their program in line with this year's theme, "Adventure—That's Scouting."

District Program
The program committee of the New Castle district has prepared a busy schedule for troops in this area.

Highlight of the week will be "Adventure in Citizenship," the Boy Scouts take over the City of New Castle Elections for the various jobs will take place at the regular troop meetings during the week of January 24-28. Nominations for the mayor, councilmen, comptroller and treasurer will be made at a convention to be held Friday evening, January 21, in the scout office. All troops are to participate in the election according to the number of boys registered and also according to their rank. For the mayor's position only Star Life and Eagle scouts are qualified to run. This "Adventure in Citizenship" should prove very educational for the winning scouts of the New Castle district.

Plan Church Service
Other events planned by the committee include "Adventure in Family Fun," which is to be by individual units and will consist of tureen dinners and family get-togethers at a place designated by the sponsoring institution. "Adventure in Exhibits" will give each scout troop, cub pack and senior unit a chance to show the public what it can do by placing exhibits in local stores during the Scout Week celebration.

"Adventure in the 12th Scout Law" is participating in church services somewhere on Scout Sunday, which is February 6, and for all scouts to wear their uniform during the Boy Scout Week.

Honor Eagle Scouts
Another activity of interest during Boy Scout Week will be at the meeting of the Optimist club on February 10 at 6:30 p. m. The Optimists will have as their guests the Eagle scouts of the New Castle district. An interesting program will be presented by John Brinton, Jr., Eagle scout, concerning the "World Jamboree" held in France.

Scout leaders, neighborhood commissioners and scoutmaster of the New Castle district took part in round-table talks which produced the plans for the 1949 annual event. In charge of the discussions was A. L. Wilson, commissioner of the New Castle district.

Union Township Fire Department Accounts Audited

Report Shows Balance In Treasury To Be Applied Toward New Building

Report of the auditors appointed by President Lawrence Hemenway of the Union Township Fire department reveals that gross receipts since the department was organized in August, 1947, amount to $15,763.24, with expenditures of $12,062.74, leaving a balance in the treasury as of January 1, 1949, of $3,700.50.

Included among the purchases has been an $8,000 fire truck, along with other additional equipment needed for fighting fires. The balance will be applied toward the construction of a new fire station in the vicinity of Union Township high school, work upon which is expected to get under way in the near future.

The report of the auditors is a most comprehensive one, showing department activities from the time it was organized in August, 1947, with 40 charter members, down to the present time.

During the coming year residents of the township will be asked to sign petitions requesting placing fire hydrants at strategic locations in the township. It is also expected that additional equipment will be purchased.

The auditors were: S. A. White, M. K. Cox and E. E. Cumberledge. Present officers are: president, Lawrence Hemenway; vice president, Joseph Paglia; secretary, Peter Grizzle; treasurer, William Hanna; trustees, Samuel White, E. E. Cumberledge and Earl Ammons; chief, Gerald Ammons; assistants, Paul Shannon and Bert Taylor; captain, Victor Hanna, and lieutenant, Henry Grizzle.

A TIGHTER LAW

One result of recent investigations by the House Un-American Activities Committee has been a hue and cry for a tighter law on espionage. Now a proposal comes from Attorney General Tom C. Clark to plug the loopholes in existing espionage laws. It is the toughest peacetime security law ever broached in this country.

Perhaps the most controversial aspect of Mr. Clark's recommendations is the proposal to legalize wire tapping by U. S. intelligence agents. Another point which may run afoul of congressional thinking is elimination of the present three-year statute of limitations for peacetime violations of the espionage laws.

Other sections would make it a criminal offense for anyone to have confidential documents in his possession, and for failure (on the part of a government official) to report loss of secret documents.

The rest of the rather lengthy bill, which is now in the hands of House Speaker Rayburn and Senator McCarran, chairman of the Senate Judiciary Committee, provides sweeping changes which, Mr. Clark feels, are needed to protect and improve the internal security of the nation.

There is no doubt that "treacherous" (Mr. Clark's term) operations and operators now exist here for the purpose of weakening the country internally. Since December 31, 1946, when Mr. Truman declared an official end to hostilities, the Department of Justice, the FBI and military intelligence agencies have been working under the limitations of the Espionage Act, which dates from June 15, 1917. But, of course, no law is good unless it is vigorously enforced.

Some of the provisions of the new act will be hard to swallow. Some are anomalous to inherit democratic processes. Others, especially the wire-tapping proviso, could conceivably bring about travesties of justice. Congress should weigh each of the provisions of the proposed law in the light of its ultimate need, and of its ultimate effect.

NEW RED STRATEGY

Apparently the Moscow war lords are convinced that the time is opportune to invite measures of appeasement from the United States. They see in the resignations of Secretary of State Marshall, Undersecretary of State Lovett and Ambassador Smith the opportunity to project another era of "cooperation" between the U. S. and Russia, similar to that which lasted for 12 years under Roosevelt.

That is the only possible conclusion to be drawn from the latest "peace offensive" of Europe's jackal states. In view of the manner in which the Soviet operates it is not strange that these hints of a possible end to the cold war come from so many points simultaneously.

The new Moscow line—and it must be that even if Moscow itself has nothing to say—is the same whenever it has been strung up. It suggests that war is not inevitable and that it is easily possible for capitalism and communism to live side by side. One communist leader, speaking in the French National Assembly, in fact quoted Dictator Stalin to that effect.

Now another communist firebrand, the Italian Togliatti—a trouble-maker if ever there was one—has abandoned his usual policy of vituperation and makes peaceful overtures not only to the western nations but to the Italian conservatives. He, too, expressed hope for collaboration and cooperation.

Only the extremely gullible will believe that this is a genuine conversion. It is too sudden and widespread to be sincere. The best explanation of it is that it is a studied attempt to lull the United States into inaction.

When friendly words have been implemented by friendly actions—over a long period of time—it will be time enough to think about the possibility of an agreement with the Soviet that will be more than a scrap of paper.

HIGHWAYS TO BETTER DEFENSE

Canada and the United States are becoming increasingly anxious that no move be unheeded toward a firm and reliable defense highway system throughout the north.

Both Canadian and United States officials realize that Alaska's Arctic and sub-Arctic areas offer the quickest and shortest route for air attack upon the North American continent in event of another war.

With this in mind, Canada's officials are working furiously toward completion of a paved, cross-Canada highway.

The only roadbeds now connecting the east and west coasts of Canada have large sections of unpaved, comparatively soft roads. Under the beating of an Army convoy of trucks and equipment, these roads would quickly deteriorate to the point of non-usability.

Additionally, paved highways are needed from Canada's valuable northern oil and mineral producing areas to southern outlets. Only this spring and summer, for instance, rail connections between Red Pass Junction and Prince Rupert were completely severed for 72 consecutive days due to slides and washouts.

As defense facilities, such rail lines would be worse than nothing for chances are that they would be out of service at a time when needed most.

In View Of News Of The World

By J. C. OESTREICHER, INS Foreign Director

Great Britain's Liberal party, for generations a major factor in the political affairs of the commonwealth, ventured out of obscurity today but it seemed to be only a temporary bid for the limelight.

Debate in the House of Commons on Foreign Secretary Bevin's widely criticized Middle Eastern policy was marked by the insistent demands of Liberal Party Leader Clement Davies for an explanation of Bevin's action in sending troops to Akaba at the tip of the Red Sea in Trans-Jordan.

Davies' firmness was surprising inasmuch as Winston Churchill, leader of the Conservative opposition to the Labor government, accepted almost meekly Bevin's request to postpone all explosive discussions until next week.

The Liberal, a Welshman like his famed predecessor David Lloyd George, was persistent on these two points:

First, why were forces dispatched in the first place?

Second, Did Britain obtain approval of the United Nations Security Council?

Bevin replied that treaty obligations necessitated the action and that there was no need to notify the council. There the matter rested, with the House of Commons satisfied for the present with Bevin's statement that Britain plans no aggression in the Middle East.

Churchill Disappoints
Churchill had returned from a vacation in the south of France and had gone to the House of Commons fully prepared for a blistering attack on Bevin's policies all along the line.

He had been expected to rake the government for its military activities in connection with the Palestine crisis, for its reconnaissance flights over the Israel-Egypt frontier and for its continued "sulky boycott" on the Tel Aviv government.

But when he awoke this morning he doubtless read the London Times.

And that newspaper, which still was a great deal of authority, found it expedient to denounce as "irresponsible and hysterical" the degree to which attacks on Bevin have gone.

Churchill never has been prone to take editorial orders. Yet the Times' attitude must have rung a bell with him when Bevin cautiously dissected the Middle Eastern affair and emphasized the manner in which uncontrolled debate at present might prejudice peace.

Looking At Life

By ERICH BRANDEIS

It is very strange that this news item should meet my eyes just a few minutes before I am ready to deal with a subject one of my readers has asked me to write about.

The subject is marriage.
The reader who wants me to write something encouraging about marriage doesn't get along with his wife. She nags him. She bosses him. She humiliates him in front of other people.

What shall he do?
He doesn't want to ask the professional "love-lorn" columnists and troubleshooters. He appeals to me as man to man, because, from my column, he takes it that I am happily married.

Here is that news item, or rather a condensation of it:
The Kuananya Ambo tribe of Southwest Africa are not burying their wives alive any longer when they get out of line. They beat them to death first and THEN bury them.

This, I gather from the news dispatch, is about the first forward step in the history of the Kuananya Ambo in five thousand years.
But please don't take my word for it. If you are interested, write to Dr. Edwin C. Loeb, who recently returned from an African expedition for the University of California.

I could advise my reader who can't get along with his wife, to move to Southwest Africa and live among the Kuananya Ambo.

That would probably be the simplest way to dispose of his matrimonial problem.

But he would have to quit his job here in America.
And the moving might be too expensive.

So we will have to help him some other way.

Being married only 27 years, and not having had much trouble with my wife, I am not much of an expert on matrimonial troubles.

Let us see, therefore, what some of the classic experts say about marriage, and particularly about wives.

Homer said in his Odyssey: Though you love your wife, do not tell her all you know; tell her some trifles, and conceal the rest.

Moliere, the French author and cynic, said: Who is the fool who does not wish his wife were dumb? Here is Alexander Pope: To please a wife, when her occasions call, Would busy the most vigorous of us all. And trust me, sir, the chastest you can choose, I'll ask observance, and exact her dues.

Not much help so far, is it?
But here, perhaps, is the answer. Perhaps my reader—like too many men—wants the kind of wife John Quincy Adams wrote about:

"I want (who does not want?) a wife

Affectionate and fair,
To solace all the woes of life
And all its days to share;
Of temper sweet, of yielding will,
Of firm yet placid mind.

With all my faults to love me still,
With sentiments refined."

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

THE POORLY TRAINED TEACHER

Yesterday we considered the appalling shortage of well-trained teachers in the elementary grades and the dark picture ahead for the babies and children still too young for school. We observed that in this time of our nation's highest prosperity in history we are miserably low in the kind of public school facilities we are providing for our children, especially in the elementary grades. Because of the present high birth rate our nation will need within the next ten years about 1,000,000 additional teachers, while at the present rate at which high school graduates are entering teachers' colleges to be trained professionally for the elementary grades there will be only about 200,000 qualified teachers available.

We observed, moreover, that when a teacher properly trained is not available for classroom the standards are dropped low enough to find a person for this classroom.

Of course a few of these emergency teachers, especially some of those who are also good mothers, have proved to be unusually good teachers. But we are talking of the rank and file. Here is a letter similar to those I have been receiving in increasing number:

"Dear Dr. Myers: I am so distressed with my six year old daughter in relation to school. I live in a country town and they don't seem to hire teachers on their qualification. They had a chance to hire a degree teacher who had taught primaries for years, but instead kept the one they took on during the war that holds only an emergency certificate. I am sending my only child to a teacher who uses methods they used forty years ago. She sent my daughter home the other day with a reader and told her to get her mother to teach her to read and when she got through with that book she could have another.

"This teacher is very high strung. She threatens to whip them every move they make and has whipped some already and the children are getting to where they despise school. She makes them sit in their seats and be still all the period. She seems to have no conception of how to teach them without whipping, as she calls it.

"What can I do to get the situation improved? I have a degree in home making, but don't know enough about modern primary methods to be of much help to my child and I am helpless. Please tell me what to do."

Local Community
In answering this mother I urged her not to condemn the teacher (who is probably doing the best she knows) but her local or larger community that did not pay teachers enough to attract good ones.

While this mother might not do much to improve the situation immediately, she and other parents could help guarantee better schools for the children of tomorrow. In the meanwhile, I advised her to provide this child with good books and materials at home and help her learn there with enjoyment.

BIBLE THOUGHT

The rich and the poor meet together; the Lord is the maker of them all.—Pr. 22:2.

From Me To You

By MESEALL

All those who read the newspaper are, we take it, conscientious of the fact that on January 22, that's this coming Saturday at 8:15 in the Cathedral Auditorium, a very unusual musical treat will take place . . . under the watchful eye of the Pennsylvania School Music Association a Mid-Western Pennsylvania Orchestra Festival Concert will be held.

It is sponsored locally by the New Castle Board of Education . . . exactly 99 musicians from this vicinity will take part in the program . . . Schools from Pymatuning, Aliquippa, Butler, Sharon, Greenville, Slippery Rock, West Middlesex, Sharpsville, Grove City, Midland, Rochester, Clarion, Beaver Mars and surrounding townships will send their top school musicians.

We can't understand it exactly . . . all during the year we hear comments by you folks (citizens of our community) that you wish that something good in the musical entertainment field would take place in your fair city . . . well here it is and a finer evening of entertainment you will not find for many a moon and yet when we checked the ticket sale this morning we are not well pleased . . . you are not taking advantage of this opportunity . . . We can see no reason why it would not be possible and very feasible for the Cathedral auditorium to be filled to capacity at 8:15 Saturday evening . . . the cost of tickets are very reasonable, 50c, 75c and $1.00. The $1.00 and 75c tickets entitle the purchaser to a reserved seat.

There is still time to purchase your ducat and have your seat reserved by going the first thing Friday morning to the Fleming Music Store . . . let's all think this matter over and take stock of ourselves and see, if we're not planning to attend this affair, why we aren't. Diamonds On The Doorstep

Washington Calling

(By Marquis Childs)

Recalls Jackson Inauguration

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—On the day that he was inaugurated in 1829, Andrew Jackson walked from his hotel to the capitol. His head was bare, his long white locks flowing like a mane about his thin, sensitive face.

At the capitol a crowd beyond anything Washington ever had seen before was milling about the steps. The president-elect had great difficulty in forcing his way to the place where the oath was to be administered. People fought to shake his hand.

To restrain the crowd somewhat a ship's cable was stretched across about two-thirds of the way up the long flight of steps by which the capitol was approached. But at times it seemed that this barrier would be broken.

After the ceremony and the reading of the inaugural address Jackson rode to the White House on a white horse. Then the people, the Jackson idolaters, the common man stormed the president's mansion. They used doors for windows, breaking the glass.

Forced To Flee
They stood with muddy feet on chairs and sofas upholstered in damask in order to get a look at the man they had put in the White House. To lure some of the crowd outside, barrels of punch were

News of the election of Susan Hayward as "the most beautiful girl in the world" is being withheld from Aly Khan for the present.

Miss Hayward was picked by 492 beauticians who found her pretty, shapely, and free of foreign entanglements.

But the government's choice for "Miss Independence of 1947-9" is Miss Vivien Kellens who refuses to collect its taxes from her employees.

Miss Kellens is the industrialist who voted as "the girl the treasury would least like to be stranded in a courtroom with."

And she has the distinction of being the only manufacturer who begs the attorney general to indict her and can't get prompt service.

If she ever decides to run for president, Harry had better get into his Battery D uniform again . . . It's going to be a tough campaign.

From Me To You

By MESEALL

All those who read the newspaper are, we take it, conscientious of the fact that on January 22, that's this coming Saturday at 8:15 in the Cathedral Auditorium, a very unusual musical treat will take place . . . under the watchful eye of the Pennsylvania School Music Association a Mid-Western Pennsylvania Orchestra Festival Concert will be held.

It is sponsored locally by the New Castle Board of Education . . . exactly 99 musicians from this vicinity will take part in the program . . . Schools from Pymatuning, Aliquippa, Butler, Sharon, Greenville, Slippery Rock, West Middlesex, Sharpsville, Grove City, Midland, Rochester, Clarion, Beaver Mars and surrounding townships will send their top school musicians.

We can't understand it exactly . . . all during the year we hear comments by you folks (citizens of our community) that you wish that something good in the musical entertainment field would take place in your fair city . . . well here it is and a finer evening of entertainment you will not find for many a moon and yet when we checked the ticket sale this morning we are not well pleased . . . you are not taking advantage of this opportunity . . . We can see no reason why it would not be possible and very feasible for the Cathedral auditorium to be filled to capacity at 8:15 Saturday evening . . . the cost of tickets are very reasonable, 50c, 75c and $1.00. The $1.00 and 75c tickets entitle the purchaser to a reserved seat.

There is still time to purchase your ducat and have your seat reserved by going the first thing Friday morning to the Fleming Music Store . . . let's all think this matter over and take stock of ourselves and see, if we're not planning to attend this affair, why we aren't. "Great American Clown"

By PAUL GALLICO

One of the great American clowns passed from the scene when Willie Howard died in New York last week, and I mourn him, for he was one of the funniest men imaginable and down through the years made me the inestimable gift of laughter and forgetfulness whenever and wherever I encountered him.

His obits were lengthy and fulsome and many a writer sat down and wrote a nostalgic, yearning and appreciative notice, but they were published on newspaper which is today's sensation and tomorrow's waste paper. I think they ought to be put up a statue to Willie on Times Square or somewhere on Broadway, a likeness of the great comedian, wearing the opera cloak and silk hat he affected as a costume in many of his funniest burlesques.

Would Not Forget Him

Then people would not forget him, and when they passed by and looked up at him they would even smile or burst into reminiscent laughter as they remembered expressions on his wonderful face, or bits of business, little movements and gestures of pantomime that were enough to set a crowded theatre rocking with gales of laughter.

How good it is to laugh. How really careless and negligent we are about preserving the memories of those who have the gifts to bring it to us.

We put up statues to statesmen, to soldiers, to explorers and inventors, to Divines, to patriots and revolutionaries but never to a comedian. And yet the clown is the greatest benefactor of the human race. Sometimes one feels even that their merchandise, the thing in which they traffic, laughter, is all that makes life livable.

Never Killed Anyone

None of them ever killed anyone, or sent hundreds of thousands of men out to die, as soldiers and statesmen to whom monuments are reared have felt compelled to do out of duty or conviction. All of them that I have known have been gentle souls, human beings like the rest of us with the actor's vanity and sometimes childish-seeming petulances, but sweet and endearing people who have lived clean and good lives.

They are twice blessed, because if they are touched with the true comic sense as was Willie Howard, they inspire not only laughter but the human emotions of love, tenderness and pity.

All of the great mimics and clowns have worked so close to pathos that sometimes, watching them, it seemed as though one did not know whether to laugh or cry, and sometimes one did both. Willie Howard used to make me laugh so hard sometimes that the tears would come to my eyes and I wouldn't be able to see him. He was the kind of comedian who literally made you want to roll in the aisles, doubled up and blind with laughter.

Can Only Describe Results

One can only describe the results and not the methods of his comedy for there is nothing quite so lame or inadequate on paper as you laugh by establishing contact with your heart, your mind and your sense of the ridiculous. A chuckle comes to my throat just from thinking about Willie's acts, how he looked and some of the things he did. But telling you about them would not make you laugh if you had never seen him perform.

Like most great show-folk, Howard died in harness. He was stricken with his fatal illness while trying out his new show in Philadelphia. Almost up to the last at the Polytechnic Hospital he kept hoping to recover and he sat in time to be onstage when the curtain rose for opening night in New York.

His name was magic at the box-office for on whatever marquee it stood, outlined in lights, there the sore, the weary, the disillusioned knew that they could purchase surcease for a few hours and frolic in the delicious waves of laughter that he elicited from his audiences.

He was faithful to his profession, his public and to himself. He created much happiness in our little corner of the earth.

Later Rita worked in Theatre Guild productions and soap opera. She has been in pictures since 1938, playing mostly misunderstood wife roles.

Begin To Note Reflection
Then pretty soon we begin to note the reflection of an undented cold snap in the market place. Vegetables, citrus fruits, avocados have been hit by the freeze and the scarcity makes higher prices—if the goods can be obtained at all.

Every intelligent editor knows that the biggest news of all—discounting scandal and crime and even war—is The Weather. It might almost be pardonable to paraphrase a Biblical saying to state that "in The Weather we live and move and have our being" for weather, after all, is an agent of the Providence which rules over our lives.

The Weather is top news in any country and any language. We acknowledge it when we exchange morning salutations. We meet it face to face in the home, in the garden, on the ranch, in the market place.

The Weather has also the elements of mystery and uncertainty which makes it first-come-first-served news. And it can't be controlled or tempered by politics or legislation or edict.

Hunter Found Guilty Of Trespassing In Safety
Zone Near Mt. Hermon

OTHER EVENTS IN COURT HOUSE

On Wednesday morning Judge John G. Lamoree upheld the summary conviction of Ray Bales, upon a charge of trespassing in a hunting safety zone and disturbing game.

Bales who lives in New Castle, was arrested by a deputy game warden in the Mt. Hermon district and taken to Ellwood City before Justice of the Peace Harold N. Parker. He was fined $25 and costs.

From the testimony given, the case hinged upon whether or not Mr. Bales, had stepped over the line of the safety zone which is 150 yards from a building. He and a witness said the distance had been measured from several angles and Mr. Bales was outside the limit.

THE LOST MORTGAGE

Somewhere, probably in a safe deposit box, there is a mortgage for $20,000 upon a 100-acre farm in Mahoning township. The mortgage will soon be divested and the property put up for public sale, along with eleven other pieces of property held by the county for delinquent taxes.

The history of the mortgage is rather cloudy. At one time there was a coal mining operation on the farm and the man operating it sunk a lot of money into the venture. A small bank in Ohio financed a $20,000 mortgage on the property and later the bank folded.

It is said the mortgage was then turned over to a Youngstown bank which in turn went out of business and no one knows where the mortgage is located.

At the time of the placing of the isolated spot. The new Route 422 cut squarely through the property and has made it a valuable tract.

Once the mortgage is divested the farm will be up for sale and the indications are there will be a lot of spirited bidding for it.

REX CAFE HEARING

Judge John G. Lamoree has set February 2 as a hearing date for the petition for modification of an order closing the Rex Cafe.

On August 11, 1948 Judge Lamoree ordered the cafe padlocked because of violations of the liquor control act. District Attorney Leroy K. Donaldson asked that it be closed as a nuisance. The order said a petition for modification would be entertained later if it could be shown that the premises would be used lawfully.

The petition for modification says a sale can be made of the cafe and asks that the order be modified to permit the sale.

Maybe by getting some fat on her bones, she may not be too streamlined.

Peacetime Draft May Be Halted For Months To Come

Armed Forces Have Reached Total
Of 1,621,000 Limit Set
By Budget

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—(INS)—The possibility arose today that the peacetime draft will be halted for the next year and a half.

This came as a result of the announcement that America's armed forces have reached a total of 1,621,000 officers and men, their budget limit for the next 18 months.

Recruits will be needed only to fill the places of men leaving the services and if the present volunteer rate continues no one may have to be inducted into the fighting forces.

Draft calls have been suspended after January and there have been no indication as to when they will be renewed. There may be no draft calls until the middle of 1950, if then.

Total Set At 1,616,000
President Truman in his budget message set the armed forces total at 1,616,000. He did not include some 5,000 West Point and Annapolis cadets which were included in the 1,621,000 figure reported by Defense Secretary Forrestal.

Forrestal reported that the Army has a strength of 675,000 or 2,000 below its 1950 budget strength, the Air Force 411,000 or 1,000 under strength, the Navy 447,000 or 5,800 over the 1950 allowance and the Marine Corps 88,000 or 2,200 over strength.

Enlistments, inductions, reenlistments in the Army in December totaled 35,642 for a December 31 strength of 675,000, as compared with 664,000 November 30.

Air Force enlistments and reenlistments were 14,698 during December, Navy enlistments and reenlistments totaled 5,321, a drop of 2,000 from the November level while a total of 1,536 men joined the Marine Corps.

Big Bill Lias Seeks To Escape Serving Sentence

WHEELING, W. Va., Jan. 20.—(INS)—William G. (Big Bill) Lias, Wheeling Downs race track owner, was reported today still fighting a 5-year sentence to the Federal prison at Atlanta, Ga., for income tax evasion.

The report states that Lias' attorney, Frank A. O'Brien, Sr., will ask the U. S. district court today for permission to withdraw the race track figure's guilty plea to one of a five-count indictment.

Charge Denied
At the same time it was reported that Carl Gailbraith, attorney who filed the plea of guilty for Lias, has sent the court a notice requesting permission to withdraw from the case.

The withdrawal request is believed to have resulted from Lias' charge there had been an "understanding" with Judge William Baker, who pronounced sentence, that Lias would be placed on probation.

Judge Baker has denied the charge. Lias is scheduled to begin serving his sentence February 7.

Department Of Forests And Waters Resumes Publication Of Informational Magazine

OTHER NEWS OF STATE AFFAIRS

HARRISBURG, Jan. 20.—(INS)—The department of forests and waters has resumed publication of its informational magazine . . . entitled "Pennsylvania Forests and Waters". It will appear bi-monthly, according to J. Hugh McNeill, editor . . . Started two years ago, the publication lapsed temporarily due to difficulties in obtaining paper. The magazine is financed within the departmental budget with a $5000 appropriation earmarked for "education and publication" . . . Each printing will consist of approximately 7000 copies which will be distributed free to all public and school libraries, foresters and forestry associations, forest and water agencies of other states and interested groups.

In its new "introductory" edition, the magazine features a lengthy article by Gov. James H. Duff on stream pollution and its relationship to public health . . . An accompanying article on reforestation is written by Forests and Waters Secretary M. F. Drummel, while others are written by department bureau chiefs . . . They range from the stream cleanup campaign on the Schuylkill river to activities at Camp Daddy Allen, the Pennsylvania Society for Crippled Children's Camp for handicapped youngsters near White Haven, in the Pocono mountains . . . Balancing heavy reading material in the new publication is an article on how to get "more than warmth from burning wood" . . . The department recommends resinous pine for both blaze and odor, red cedar for an aromatic odor, the bark of white birch for a "rich flame", and apple wood for a bright delicate fire with "spicy fragrance".

The preview of the 1949 Pennsylvania Farm Show for Governor Duff and other high-ranking state officials, and news and radio men turned out to be a whirlwind affair . . . The governor, trailed by a straggling column of more than 100 other guests, was whisked from exhibit to exhibit in a little more than an hour . . . super-efficient State police led by Commissioner C. M. Wilhelm, maintained a protective ring around the chief executive to avoid crowding by Duff's friends and acquaintances in the 14-acre exhibit hall . . . As a result, by the time the tour neared an end, guests were abandoning the entourage and heading out on their own to get a good look at the various exhibits which were skimmed over.

A compilation of hunting statistics from 1915 to 1947 by the state game commission shows that 1304 nimrods have lost their lives pursuing the sport in Pennsylvania . . . The year-by-year analysis of fatalities also shows that hunting deaths are on the wane . . . During the first year reported, 29 hunters were killed . . . Deaths mounted gradually until 1931 when they reached a peak of 72 . . . Since that year, hunting fatalities declined to the point of 29 deaths during the 1947 season . . . In the same 33-year period, 6,572 hunters sustained non-fatal injuries, according to the report . . . Unlike deaths, non-fatal accidents apparently are on the increase . . . In 1915, only 119 nimrods reported injuries while 426 received non-fatal hurts in 1947 . . . Three times non-fatal accidents have topped the 400 mark while the 300 mark has been exceeded during six hunting seasons . . . The low point in hunting accidents was reached during 1918 when 19 hunters were killed and 48 injured.

Patent Granted To LeRoy V. Clark

New Castle Man Given Patent On Method For Preparing Lead
Nitroaminoguanidine

(Special To The News)
WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—On December 14, 1948, the United States Patent office granted patent number 2,456,583 on a "Method for Preparing Lead Nitroaminoguanidine" to Leroy V. Clark, New Castle, Pa.

Lead nitroaminoguanidine, which for the sake of simplicity will be referred to below as LNAV, has been found to have desirable initiating explosive properties when used either with or without other explosive materials in blasting caps. However, when prepared according to prior methods, it is usually in the form of slender pointed crystals, similar in shape to pine needles and consequently its apparent density is only about 4-10ths of a gram per cubic centimeter.

According to Mr. Clark, this density is ordinarily too low for use in blasting caps without forcing the need of inordinately long shells which would be unacceptable to the trade. In addition, the aforementioned needle-like elements cannot come into close contact with each other and therefore cause a large amount of wasted space. To eliminate these difficulties he has discovered that the addition of proper amounts of such substances as gelatin, animal glue, pepsin and the like to the ingredients that normally are used to manufacture LNAV, will result in a finished product in the form of crystals that are of desirable shape, dense, relatively large and, in fact, of a character entirely satisfactory for their intended purpose.

In his patent specifications, Mr. Clark gives the details of his man-

16-Year-Old Wins Agriculture Prize

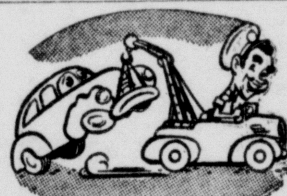

DETROIT, Mich.—(INS)—A 16-year-old high school track star and vegetable grower crossed the finish line ahead of competitors from 43 states to win one of the nation's top agricultural championships.

David Pratt of Ithaca, N. Y., won a $500 scholarship award in the 1948 production-marketing contest of the National Junior Vegetable Growers Association.

At the 14th annual convention of the NJVGA in Detroit, Prof. Grant B. Snyder of the University of Massachusetts, adult advisor to the association, named Pratt the winner of the coveted title in recognition of his outstanding farm project.

David's home-grown assorted vegetables and well-planned potato crop earned him a combined total of $642.08 in profits. The scholarship fund which provides for the awarding of several regional, sectional and state championships is provided annually by A. & P. Food Stores to promote the study of better production and marketing methods by farm youth.

When Is A

It's extravagance to buy meats that are tough and tasteless, fruits and vegetables that are wilted and old and baked goods and dairy products that aren't strictly fresh... no matter how little they cost. This kind of so-called "saving" is penny-wise and pound foolish because you don't get your money's worth of enjoyment from such foods. That's why we never sacrifice quality to price at A&P. Instead, we keep all our prices just as low as possible by cutting our operating expenses and profits to the bone and sharing the resulting savings with our customers. Such savings are really worthwhile because they help you not only spend less, but eat better. Shop at A&P and see!

Teen-Age Boys In Warren Admit Setting Off Blasts

WARREN, Pa., Jan. 19.—(INS)—Police said today that two teen-age boys admitted setting off two charges of dynamite that rocked Warren last Saturday and Sunday mornings.

Police Chief George Haehn identified the youths as Leroy Churchill and William Howard Hansen, 17, both of Warren.

The first blast at 2:55 a.m. Saturday broke windows and aroused residents in the east section of town. A second blast early Sunday morning, set off 200 feet behind the Beatty junior high school, broke several windows in homes and five windows in a nearby church.

Police said there were 20 sticks of dynamite in the first explosion and 13 in the second.

Police traced a piece of white butcher's twine found near the site of the second explosion to a grocery store owned by the Churchill boy's father. The boys told police they set off the blast for "the fun of it."

They said they got the dynamite from a shed on an oil lease just outside Warren last October and in each case placed the explosives in the top branches of a tree.

Officials of the Sellin Hatchery near the scene of the second explosion fear that 25,000 eggs in the incubators at the time may have been damaged.

John the Baptist Begins His Ministry

HE PREACHES THE REPENTANCE OF SIN

Scripture—Matthew 3; Luke 3:1-23a; 7:18-35; John 1:10-34

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL

As in our own time, the people of Jesus' day were restless. Change was in the air, and the Hebrew people were looking for a Messiah—a leader who would bring them freedom and tyrannical rule and make them again a free people.

At this critical time John the Baptist, son of the priest Zacharias, came out of the wilderness where he had lived through his youth, dressed in rough garments and eating the foods which he could obtain in the wild places of that country—locusts and wild honey.

John was now ready for his ministry, and he preached, "Repent ye, for the kingdom of heaven is at hand." With hope in their hearts the people crowded around him, asking him who he was. He told them he was not the prophet Elijah, long since dead, or the Messiah, but "the voice of one crying in the wilderness. Make straight the way of the Lord, as said the prophet Elias."

Crowds followed John and were baptized by him, and to all whom he baptized he repeated that they must truly repent and have a change of heart and character or the baptism would do them no good. Pharisees and Sadducees came to him. Furthermore, he said that he baptized them with water, but "He who is coming after me is preferred before me, whose latchet I am not worthy to unloose."

"Bring forth the fruits worthy of repentance," John told the people. They were not to excuse themselves by saying that "We have Abraham to our father for I say unto you, that God is able of these stones to raise up children of Abraham."

"What shall we do?" he was asked, and he told them that those who had two coats should give one to those who had none. To the publicans or tax gatherers he said that they should take no more than their just taxes from the people, and not make themselves rich by taking what was not due. To the soldiers he said, "Do violence to no man, neither accuse any falsely; and be content with your wages."

Jesus came to John to be baptized, and John at first refused, saying, "I have need to be baptized of Thee, and comest Thou to me?" Jesus answered him, saying, "Suffer it to be so now; for thus it becometh us to fulfill all righteousness."

John then baptized Jesus, and as He came from the water—for He was baptized in the river Jordan around which country John had been preaching—"the heavens were opened unto Him, and He saw the Spirit of God descending like a dove, and lighting upon Him; and lo, a voice from heaven, saying, This is My beloved Son, in whom I am well pleased."

Next day, as John saw Jesus passing, and cried to his companions, "Behold the Lamb of God, which taketh away the sin of the world!"

John reported all—whether of high or low degree—when they sinned, and when Herod Antipas, Tetrarch of Galilee and Peraea, married Herodias, wife of his brother, Philip. John rebuked him sternly. This angered Herod, and he had John seized and put in prison.

During his imprisonment, John evidently pondered about Jesus and wondered if He was, in truth, the Messiah. John had expected that this longed-for leader would be a different type of person—coming in grandeur to reign on earth. Calling to him two of his disciples, he sent them to Jesus, saying, "Art Thou He that should come?" or "look we for another?"

Jesus had cured many of their "infirmities and plagues and of evil spirits; and to many who were blind He gave their sight." After the messengers had seen these miracles, Jesus told them to go back to John and tell him of these things.

Jesus then told the people that John was a great prophet, but that the people themselves were "like unto children sitting in the marketplace, and calling to one another. For John the Baptist came neither eating bread nor drinking wine and we say, He hath a devil. The Son of man is come eating and drinking; and ye say, Behold a gluttonous man, and a winebibber, a friend of publicans and sinners. But wisdom is justified of all her children."

Jesus was proved to be the Saviour of mankind, but if He came to us today—in humble guise—would we recognize Him or would we reject Him as those who had the privilege of seeing and hearing Him did?

Injunction Seeks To Tie Up Funds In City Of Erie

ERIE, Pa., Jan. 20.—(INS)—An injunction suit seeking to tie up city funds and throw out the Erie 1949 budget was on file in Erie county common pleas court today.

The suit climaxes a running fight between Erie Taxpayers Economy League and Mayor Joseph C. Martin's administration. Named as defendants are Mayor Martin, the city council and the city controller and treasurer.

The suit charges "illegal expenditures, budget juggling, improper taxation, excessive borrowing and concealment of records." It asked that councilmen, as department directors, be forced to make good the alleged illegal payments, and stopping of salary payments to the mayor and council.

A rule to show cause was granted, and hearings will be held later.

THE FAMILY SCRAPBOOK

By DR. ERNEST G. OSBORNE

"Just Let Them Cry"

When we were young parents, the "modern" thing to do when a baby cried was to leave him alone. After seeing to it that he was dry and that no pin was pricking him, good parents were supposed to leave him "cry it out." It was feared that if an infant were given too much attention, he would become spoiled.

It was hard to do this, but as conscientious parents we tried. Such advice was a part of the emphasis on routine and regularity. Affection was supposed to have a place but was to be shown cautiously lest the children be made too dependent.

There has been a decided change in attitude. Modern pediatricians and child specialists have considerably more flexible ideas. Though believing in a degree of regularity and recognizing that a child may learn to cry largely for attention, they think that a little comforting is a very good thing. Babies are not expected to wait until a specific hour before being fed. They may even be bored and lonely and need home human warmth and affection.

Though there's no simple rule to tell parents when and when not to pick up the crying child, we may now believe it's better to err on the side of more rather than less attention and affection.

All joined in the march during which the three judges, J. A. Turek, presiding principal and visiting guests, Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Thomas, chose the Sweater Girl of 1949, Darlene Gierlach, and the Sweater Boy of 1949, Anthony Conti. The couple were dressed in smart brown and white sweaters displaying daring green wildcats on both the front and back. Darlene wore a brown skirt and Anthony wore brown trousers. They were presented with blue and white banners, after which they led the next dance. The dance was over at 11:30.

Pants Factory Resumes Work At Beaver Falls

BEAVER FALLS, Pa., Jan. 20.—(INS)—Peace reigned—and work resumed—today at the National Pants company in Beaver Falls, after settlement of a brief strike by employees against both the company and the union.

The workers walked out Tuesday in a dispute over wages and working conditions. When officials of local 415 of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers of America refused to carry the issues to company officials, the workers "struck" against the union, too.

Pickets carried signs reading "both this union and this company are unfair."

Late Wednesday company officials went directly to the workers and ironed out their difficulties.

The plant started operating again today. No one wanted to comment on whether relations between union officials and the workers have been patched up.

Vincent van Gogh, Dutch artist, was reared in a parsonage. His life was short—only from 1853-1890—and his pictures made little impression on the public during his life-time, except for a small group of ardent friends. His influence on subsequent generations of painters, however, is said to have been more outstanding than that of almost any other creator.

The birthstone for January is garnet, emblem of constancy.

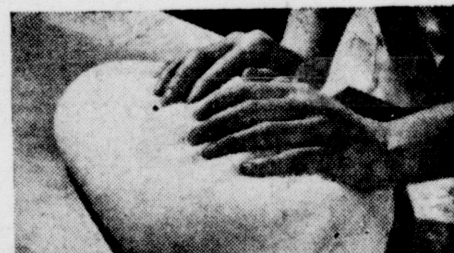

There was only one carpenter among the pioneers in the New World of the Popham Colony, located along the Kennebec river, on the coast of Maine. His name is not known, but he, with other men helping, built a small ship of 30 tons and christened her The Virginia. She sailed down the coast, and eventually crossed the Atlantic.

Cummings To Speak To Executives Club

Authority On International Affairs Will Be Speaker
Friday Evening

PHILIP CUMMINGS

Philip Cummings, noted observer of international affairs, who has lived in many places throughout the world, will address members of the New Castle Executives Club at their monthly dinner meeting in The Castleton, Friday evening.

Born in Vermont and educated at Rollins and Middlebury Colleges, the University of Dijon, France; and the University of Madrid, Mr. Cummings says his real education did not begin until the Spanish Revolution in 1931. Subsequently, he has been a world traveler.

This venturesome American has lived in the steaming jungles of India, he has crossed Australia, hiked through the Balkans, and wandered in the most remote South Sea Islands, has traversed the Sahara desert, and penetrated the interior of southern Mexico and travelled far north up the Labrador coast.

He thus has a wide field of experiences to speak from, and should prove one of the most interesting speakers heard by the club this year.

Rule Out Suicide In Baker's Death

TALLAHASSEE, Fla., Jan. 20.—(INS)—The mysterious death of New York banking heir Greenville Baker virtually was narrowed down today to murder or accident.

An FBI report apparently ruled out the possibility of suicide. The agency's Washington laboratory states its scientists could find no trace of powder burns around the gunshot wound which proved fatal to the 27-year-old socialite.

His brother, George F. Baker, III, said in New York he did not think the youthful heir to banking millions had met with foul play. He declared:

"I am completely convinced it was an accident."

Great Books Forum Session

Robert Brownings' "The Ring and The Book" Is Next On Discussion List

Joshua Liebman's widely read, "Peace of Mind," was the center of a lively discussion period Tuesday evening at the Great Books forum held in the free public library.

The pro and con of the book's merits and the reasons for the book's ability of staying on the best seller list for three years since its publication were among the many issues which entered the discussion. Still "high" in the popular list, many attribute this to the fact that "Peace of Mind" is considered a "personal" book also.

As leader for last evening's interesting session was Miss Alice Sterling, librarian, who did a commendable job in leading the forum.

On Tuesday, February 1, "The Ring and the Book," a poem by Robert Browning, will be the classic discussed. Leader will be Miss Edna Weide.

Try And Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

A reporter, sent to cover an opening of the Metropolitan opera season (in the days before patrons made news by standing on their heads in the lobby, or doing a strip-tease in the lounge) didn't wait to see who turned out. He copied down the names from the brass plates on the doors to the boxes, turned in his story, and went off to a prize fight.

Unfortunately, the brass plates bore the names of the original box-holders. The next day the society editor told him sourly: "You covered a lot of ground last night, but the opening of the opera, but the opening of a number of vaults in Woodlawn Cemetery."

Who "originates" anecdotes, and who has the right to stop anyone from re-telling them?

Nicholas Murray Butler summed up the situation this way: "In the case of the first person using an anecdote, it is originality; in the second, plagiarism; in the third, rehashing a stale story. Finally, after a short interval, a fourth uses the anecdote. In his case, he is credited with research!"

Vice President Is Sworn In Before Truman

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—(INS)—Alben W. Barkley, who at an age when most men are in retirement helped President Truman achieve his "miracle victory," took the oath of office today as the nation's 35th vice president. The 71-year-old Kentuckian, veteran of long service in the United States senate, was sworn in by Associate Justice Stanley Reed just before Mr. Truman took his oath before Chief Justice Fred M. Vinson.

Dog Prosecutions To Start Monday

Owners Who Fail To Get License Tags Will Be Fined, McLure States

Dog owners who have failed to secure their 1949 canine licenses, will be prosecuted, starting Monday, Howard McLure, dog law investigator, stated today. To date, only 3,750 dog owners have complied with the law, out of a possible 11,000 dog owners, and approximately one third of the kennel owners have secured licenses.

Where dogs are found not wearing a collar with tag attached, the fine is $5 and costs, and where no license has been procured at all, the fine will be $10 and costs.

Prosecutions are mandatory, under orders received from Harrisburg, Mr. McLure states.

Owners residing in the rural districts may procure their licenses by mail, if they will write to the county treasurer, Don I. Neal, enclosing a check or money order for $1.10 in case the dog is a male, or $2.10 if a female, and stamped, self-addressed envelope. A description of the dog or last year's license paper should be enclosed.

President Favors Electoral College

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—(INS)—President Truman and the Democratic National Committee chairman disagreed on the question of changing the 160-year-old electoral college.

Mr. Truman told some 2,000 persons at an electoral college dinner that he is content with the present system of electing the president and vice-president.

Sen. McGrath, of Rhode Island, the party chairman, said, however, that the electoral college has "outlived its usefulness."

The senator said it should be replaced by a system which would give voters more direct management of the government.

Order New Jury Panel For Trial

SMETHPORT, Pa., Jan. 20.—(INS)—A third panel of prospective jurors was summoned today in the murder trial of Alvin Smiley, who is accused of killing his wife, Thelma, last July.

The jury was completed late Wednesday after three days of examination. But Judge Charles Hubbard ordered a panel of 30 from which two alternates were to be selected. In all, 130 veniremen were summoned.

Testimony is expected to start later today. Smiley is free on $5,000 bail.

High School Pupils Hear Inauguration

Recently Installed Public Address System Enables Students To Hear Ceremonies

Students of New Castle Senior High who are fortunate enough to have a history class or study hall schedule at the same time of Thursday's inauguration ceremonies in Washington had an opportunity to hear the radio broadcast by means of a recently installed public address system.

Work was begun on the system during the Christmas holiday but workmen have not had opportunity to complete the installation. Upon completion, it will be possible to make announcements from a single point in the school to all rooms. Two-way communication will be possible to each room and a clock, with chimes carried to all classes, will announce the changing of periods, replacing the current system of bells.

Send Two Programs

With the new system it will be possible to send two programs at the same time to different rooms throughout the building. Sources of the programs will be educational broadcasts from radio, phonograph recordings or speaking programs that originate in the high school auditorium.

Mr. Book, however, did point out another interesting feature in the system. That is an emergency switch that enables the person at the controls to talk to each room simultaneously no matter what the nature of the program being transmitted at the time.

Final completion date for the installation of the while system is indefinite, Mr. Book said today.

Arline's Latest Husband Jobless

NEW YORK, Jan. 20.—Arline Judge, who got a $100,000 divorce present a year ago, unwrapped a wedding present from her father-in-law today.

It was a move transferring George Ross, whom she married Tuesday night in Fort Lee, N. J., to the list of the unemployed. Papa Ross, president of the Ross Underwriters booted Arline's newest right out of his lush job as a company vice-president.

With young Ross jobless, the Rosses weren't entertaining visitors today.

Said the doorman to callers at their Fifth Avenue apartment: "They ain't in."

Child Development Circle Sees Films

The presentation was much enjoyed. Mr. Andrews was introduced by Mrs. Donald Copson, program chairman.

Mrs. Charles M. Hayes and Mrs. Clifford Bradford, special guests, aided the hostess in serving a lunch.

Next meeting will be February 15 in the home of Mrs. Robert Gibson, 308 Northview avenue.

GAS AND COKE WORKERS STRIKE

CAMDEN, N. J., Jan. 20.—(INS)—The Camden Gas and Coke Workers union went on strike this morning in defiance of a New Jersey statute which bars work stoppages in public utilities taken over by the state.

Affected by the walkout were the Public Service Electric and Gas Co. gas plants in Camden and Glassboro with 550 union members.

The strike began when Union President Richard Cecich ordered workers on the midnight to 8 a.m. shift to stay home. He permitted 50 employees of the previous shift to remain until 8 a.m. in order to avoid hardship to hospitals, declaring:

"After that, it's up to Governor Driscoll to act."

Welfare Groups Ask More For Reliefs

Governor Duff Maintains 'Wait And See' Attitude After Meeting With Delegation

HARRISBURG, Jan. 20.—(INS)—Gov. James H. Duff maintained a "wait and see" attitude on the plea of Pennsylvania Welfare agencies for increased relief grants.

A 35-member delegation, headed by Joseph D. Calhoun, vice president of the Welfare Council of Philadelphia, met with the governor this week to ask an approximate 10 per cent increase in relief grants.

Duff indicated "great interest," Calhoun said, but reminded the group that "first things must come first and the people must remember there is only so much income for all of the people."

Calhoun said the delegation believes that the State Department of Public Assistance "should match its own estimates of cost of living figures" in relief allowances. He pointed out that present grants "are far below the requirements for a minimum existence."

Hundred Million Dollar Loan For Israel Planned

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—(INS)—The United States decision to extend a 100 million dollar loan to the new state of Israel was interpreted as an indication of an early settlement of the Palestine dispute.

The Export-Import Bank announced the granting of the loan last night. Negotiations had been going on for several months after the United States had demanded that Israel set forth the specific projects for which the loan was to be used.

Of the 100 million, 35 million will be made immediately available for agricultural development projects. The remaining 65 million will be advanced for industrial projects before the end of the year.

Significance Seen

The granting of the loan at this time is regarded as significant, however, for political reasons. The fact that it had been asked and was being considered sympathetically for some time already was known.

Diplomatic observers believe at this time the loan will encourage a certain amount of give and take by Israel as well as the Arabs in the negotiations now being conducted on the Isle of Rhodes for a permanent settlement of the Holy Land war.

Moreover, it is believed that its extension might encourage the Arabs to give some concessions inasmuch as the United States assured them this country would seek to promote their own development.

Body Of Smith Is Brought Here

Victim Of Gun Battle In Cleveland Dies On Wednesday Of Wounds

Body of Donald B. Smith, also known as Wellendorf, was brought to Burke's funeral home here early this morning, following his death Wednesday in a Cleveland hospital of wounds sustained in a gun battle with Wayne N. Albee, druggist of Cleveland, during a holdup.

Albee was also wounded but is said to be in fair condition in a Cleveland hospital.

Smith and Howard McConnell, this city, are charged with having held up the druggist one week ago.

After putting some money on an ice cream cabinet, Albee seized a revolver and an exchange of revolver shots took place.

Smith shot five times, collapsed in the drug store, and was taken to a hospital. McConnell, after allegedly seizing some of the money, fled from the store. He was later arrested.

Three 'Break Banks' At Big Casinos Of Cannes And Nice

NICE, Jan. 20.—(INS)—Three British tourists shared almost a quarter of a million dollars in gambling winnings today after breaking the banks at the Casinos of Cannes and Nice.

The three, who identified themselves only as Victor White, Winocour and Hyman, piled up the fortune after starting with only $33 worth of chips.

They won their fabulous stake in three days of play at the card game of baccarat—a variation of the American "black jack".

The men began by purchasing 10,000 francs in chips at the Nice Casino, and wound up with 72,000,000 francs.

Playing a system of their own invention, the three gambled one million francs—about $3,333—on the turn of a card at the height of their play.

George Washington was a prolific letter writer. He wrote approximately 15,000 letters, nearly all of which have been preserved.

Johnson Bronze Employee Given Lifesavers' Medal

For the second time within three years a Johnson Bronze Company employee has been presented with the Liberty Mutual Insurance Company "Life Savers' Medal."

On Wednesday afternoon Fred Acker, a foreman in the leadloyl heat treating department was presented with the coveted medal for saving the life of Howard Hutchinson, a welder, on September 15. Cash awards went to Miss Grace Williams and William Nicoletti who had a part in the rescue of Mr. Hutchinson.

On September 15 Mr. Hutchinson, a welder, crawled into a furnace to make some repairs. After getting into the furnace he became sick and realized that all the gas had not been turned off. He tried to back out of the furnace but became unconscious.

Miss Williams noticed him in the furnace and called William Nicoletti. He called to Hutchinson and receiving no reply called the foreman, Mr. Acker. The two men got Hutchinson out of the furnace and Mr. Acker then applied artificial respiration. Hutchinson was removed to the hospital after he had regained consciousness and recovered in a week sufficiently to return to work.

First Aid Program Results
In presenting the awards President J. Preston Flaherty said, "it is a fine thing to know that our first aid program, taught by E. D. Hawk, has twice saved a life in our plant in three years. Through the fast thinking and intelligent action of Mr. Acker a tragedy was averted."

"In my opinion Miss Williams and Mr. Nicoletti are worthy of a medal also, but the Liberty Mutual present the medal to the one applying the artificial respiration. I am proud we have such employees in Johnson Bronze."

Present at the presentation in addition to Mr. Flaherty were Vice President Edward M. Flaherty, Vice President J. F. Barrett, E. D. Hawk, Safety Director, Harry C. Stenger, works manager, William Lysz, leadloyl superintendent, Donald Eckles, assistant leadloyl superintendent, Mr. Hutchins and Mr. Howard of Liberty Mutual.

Of the 15 pennants won by the New York Yankees, 12 were won by teams that were in first place on July 4.

Shenango St. YMCA Membership Drive

Shenango Street Branch Y.M.C.A. membership committee today announced that the annual membership drive of the branch will begin Sunday, January 23, with a public meeting scheduled for 4 o'clock.

The goal of the drive this year will be 350 members. This represents an increase of 25 over last year's enrollment.

Prospect cards have been issued to the captains so that much of the preliminary work can be finished before the kick-off Sunday afternoon.

Jerome Cooper, chairman of the membership committee, said that with the great interest shown in the anniversary program last Saturday he feels that the membership drive will be a success.

Captains will be asked to make their first reports Sunday. A successful membership campaign means a fuller program with better equipment for all. The committee is working diligently toward that goal.

IN THE OPEN

Bemused by an unseasonable succession of mild days, January went clear out of character during the past week and chalked up a few outdoor oddities which will probably not be equalled in many years to come. The weather even spoiled the annual arrival of the seed catalogs. These gems of "must" reading are for deliberate perusal before an open fire, with an apple or two and a bowl of popcorn handy to help divert attention from the blizzard raging outside. Somehow it just doesn't seem proper to study out seed selections while gnats are flying in the dooryard and lilac buds are swelling to the danger point.

Pair of Robins
While getting the car out of the garage one recent misting morning I heard a familiar shouting in the trees behind the house. A quick look-see verified the oral report that a pair of robins was scolding the world in general and nobody in particular from the top of a tall elm. They seemed quite elated over something, perhaps the fact that they represented my first January record of robins in the valley.

During the week the light breeze even dried out the lawns to the extent that I was able to burn over a sizeable patch one noon hour. Parsnips came free of the soil with almost no persuasion—a far cry from the usual procedure of chopping them clear of the frozen ground with a mattock.

Few Chickadees
During the weekend I made two forays into the hinterland. Both journeys were delightful walking tours, but the woods folk snubbed me severely. I was lucky to get a glimpse of a few chickadees and a sardonic crow or two. I moseyed clear around the basin of a large impounding reservoir. The dam was rather low, revealing extensive mud flats at the upper end.

Here in the clear shallows just offshore I was surprised to see a small painted turtle hanging in the water with his head out. As I approached he scuttled to the bottom and ambled into the darkness of a patch of pond weed. A few yards farther on I came upon another, somewhat larger, who also lit out for the dark depths in a manner more reminding of July than January.

Few Fish To Be Seen
I followed along the feeder stream at the head of the reservoir, but could see no trace of any fish larger than a few hardy shiners. There were no water birds on the dam, and not a single shore bird along these mud flats. At the expense of one wet foot I splashed through the creek and started along the other side of the water. The trail led through a hillside field abandoned to thorn bushes and wild cherry.

I cut up through this tangle, picking up a cocoon or two from the cherry saplings, and finally entered a grove of young hickory. This grove continued over the rise, and I suddenly found myself uncomfortably close to a Holstein bull who was apparently all alone in those back fields. I have found it good business to give all bulls a wide berth while hiking alone. This fellow seemed ready and willing for an argument, so I quickly threw into reverse and backed out of there in a hurry.

Make Short Detour
A short detour got me safely past this churlish bachelor and a mile of hillside hiking brought me out to the parked car. The following day I tried a woodland glen far removed from the reservoir country. Again the day was, for January, downright sultry. Just as I stepped across the fence at the roadside a pale green splootch in the leaves caught my eye and turned out to be a "stink" bug, quite chipper and full of musky odor.

Everywhere in the woodlands was the gurgling laughter of running water. The liquid music sang the theme song of the April runoff. There were few dry spots underfoot as the moisture came ont through the mulch to join the beckoning rills and roister on out to the wide valley. I finally found a dry spot among the buttressing roots of a venerable beech and sat for a half hour among the trees.

Gray Squirrel Active
An occasional puff of wind set the forest bashes to talking as upper limbs rubbed together. A gray squirrel spoke a few profane sentences and then went back to sleep in his hideout somewhere aloft. Apparently there was to be no floor show in that forest area, so I picked myself up from the beech roots and journey out of the woodlands by way of the main "draw".

The water jumps over many rocky obstacles in this glen. I noted a water strider skating about over one quiet pool. He probably found something to eat there, but all the time I watched him, he seemed to have little luck.

The mild weather has not been too kind to the back roads. One slip from the main roadway and the tires are deep in bogging mire. I nearly met this embarrassing disaster while trying to watch a sparrow hawk on the wires and at the same time watch the roadway. The hawk careened off over the hills and I just managed to career back onto the solid roadbed, ringing down the curtain on another outdoor weekend.

Around Hollywood

By FRANK NEILL
(International News Service Staff Correspondent)

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 20.—Strange and wonderful things are happening in Hollywood these days—just as they did 25 years ago when the movies were laughingly referred to as flickering tinnies. When the picture industry was in the throes of its first growing pains, producers used to latch onto pretty young thing at Soda fountains, in theater lobbies or at the five-and-dime. And presto—the cuties became stars overnight. It happened time and again in the infancy of movies and it is happening today as television is getting a king-size toe-hold on the entertainment business.

Roach Pioneering
Hal Eugene Roach, son of the movie pioneer and creator of "Our Gang" comedies, is pioneering television on film himself—feature-length pictures slanted directly at Video.

The other day he signed a slick little secretary for a forthcoming film series, "Don't Be A Sucker." Young Roach, unwilling in these swaddling days of television to hire all big-name actors, happened to be transacting some business at a Hollywood bank. He didn't say whether he was chucking dough in or taking it out.

Secretary Gets Break
At any rate, in between his credits and debts he was thinking that what he needed most was a not-too-expensive gal for a part in the series he starts shooting next month.

It would be too pat to recount that sitting right smack in front of him was the answer to his thoughts. But there she perched a red-haired doll name Rita Corey, new accounts secretary at the Money Emporium and luscious enough to take your breath away. Roach went into a hurried huddle with C. C. Pearson, boss of the bank. Pearson agreed that Miss Corey, who had hied to Hollywood several semesters ago from Twin Falls, Mont., should get her chance at the movies and television.

Became Model
So now Miss Corey is getting her big break. She first came to Movieville and started toiling as a model, but success in the modeling business is about as certain as picking a winner in the sixth race at Santa Anita.

One day a week Miss Corey will be a full-fledged actress for the new Roach productions, getting time off from her banking chores to hurry over to the studio.

When her acting stints are completed she will rush back to her desk behind the bank counter to juggle mathematical figures.

The redhead, a terrific 20, thinks the set-up is practically perfect.

Every second of the night and day, 7,000 persons board a streetcar, trolley coach or bus in the United States and Canada.

The world's longest suspension bridge is over Colorado's Royal Gorge. It is 1,280 feet long, exclusive of its approaches.

Seventh Ward Volunteer Firemen Planning Banquet

Annual Event On February 2: W. E. Weitz Sr. To Cooperate With City Committee

Members of the Seventh Ward Volunteer Fire Department gathered on Tuesday evening, in the Fire House, East Cherry and North Cedar streets, for their regular meeting, with W. Ellis Howard, president, in charge. There was a good attendance. There was a discussion regarding the annual banquet, and the date was set for February 2. W. E. Weitz Sr., a member of the ward group, will cooperate with the other volunteer firemen committees of the city.

Ward Seaman To Soon Return From Cruise

Word from the Fleet Home Town News Center, Ninth Naval District, Great Lakes, Illinois, states that Joseph L. Melchiorre, of 17 Darlington avenue, seaman apprentice, USN, son of Mrs. Loretta Melchiorre, is scheduled to arrive in Norfolk, Va., on February 9, after a six months cruise in the Mediterranean Sea, aboard the destroyer USS Dickinson. Arriving with the Dickinson, will be the destroyers USS Purvis, USS Compton, and USS Gairard, all having served with the Sixth Task Fleet. Joe joined the naval service in February 1948.

It is unwise for one to attempt to eat a meal while he is very angry. Anger draws the blood away from the digestive organs into the muscles and lungs and brains. If one eats while angry, the blood supply of the stomach at the time will probably be so poor that the meal will not digest.

State Senator Neff Co-Sponsors Three Measures

Word received from Harrisburg is that State Senator Samuel G. Neff of Beaver and Lawrence counties co-sponsored three bills on Tuesday in the state senate. The bills provide for: Immediate repeal of the tax law No. 481 passed by the 1947 session of general assembly, commonly known as the payroll tax bill or the "tax anything law". The immediate repeal of the labor-management act of 1947, commonly known as the "little" Taft-Hartley act. Restrictions on local courts of use of injunction to impair labor-management autonomy in negotiating labor disputes. Smooth plains on the moon were mistaken for seas by early observers.

Reveal Plans For Pre-Easter Contest

A great number of the Sunday schools of the city will participate in the pre-Easter Sunday school attendance contest which will be operated this year jointly by the Lawrence County Sabbath School association and the New Castle Superintendents' Council. It was announced at the last meeting of the superintendents, that the Sunday schools will be graded according to enrollment using the letters, A, B, C, D, E., in the grading system. The plan will be based on Sunday school attendance, attendance of teachers and officers and morning worship attendance. Awards to the winners in the various divisions will be made Sunday following Easter, by one of the Council representatives. T. L. Paden has been named general chairman of the committee for plans for the Easter campaign. The next meeting of the superintendents will take place on February 5 to complete the contest plans.

Blue Peter Installed Early Derby Favorite

By LAWTON CARVER
NEW YORK, Jan. 20.—John B. Campbell's experimental ratings for three-year-olds are out today and Blue Peter has been given the top figure of 126 pounds.

There is nothing startling about that, because the Joseph M. Roebeling colt already has been installed the early favorite for the Kentucky Derby, if not the other triple crown classics.

Maybe the real surprise is the 121 pound rating given to Myrtle Charm, the Maine Chance farm's filly which was runner-up to Blue Peter in the Futurity. Allowing her five pounds for belonging to the weaker sex, she theoretically shares topweight billing with Blue Peter.

However, there has been no regret around lately to win the Kentucky Derby, so it is natural to look for colts and geldings who are likely to challenge Blue Peter's superiority, unless that fellow turns out to be another Citation.

Mr. Busher Good
Campbell rated another Maine Chance racer, Mr. Busher, at 124, nearest to Blue Peter in actual poundage.

There is no quarrel with the Jockey Club's handicapper and racing secretary on that score, either. Mr. Busher, who like Blue Peter is a son of War Admiral, also is a full brother of the famous filly Busher. He cost $50,000, a record price for a weanling, but won himself out early.

It is believed that Campbell would have rated Mr. Busher on a par with Blue Peter but for the fact that the former made only three starts before being cut down in the Washington Park Futurity and being thrown out of training.

Many Fine Colts
Campbell rates the Greentree stable's Capot at 122 pounds, just below Mr. Busher. Not much attention has been paid to the remaining three-year-olds in discussing the coming classics, yet many owners believe they have colts fit to try for the triple crown.

Most of these dark horses are animals who were bright prospects early last year but suffered injuries that brought about inactivity and removed them from the public eye.

Horses which are reported to be wintering well and worth watching include Wine List, Prince Quest, Whirl Blast, Prophet's Thumb, Ocean Drive, Sport Page, Star Fiddle, Olympia and Burning Night.

Other possible upsets include Johns Joy and Palestinian. Ocean Drive, Olympia and Johns Joy are rated fifth, sixth and seventh, respectively, on Campbell's list.

Ask Codification Of School Laws

HARRISBURG, Jan. 20.—(INS)—Codification of Pennsylvania's school laws embracing virtually everything from salaries to vitamins was proposed Wednesday in a 300-page bill.

Sponsored by Senate Education Committee Chairman Fred L. Homsher (R) Lancaster, the measure reflects more than 18 months work by a special committee of the fact-finding joint state government commission.

The teachers' salary schedule currently in effect is not changed but Homsher's proposal does not preclude amendment inasmuch as new wage demands are expected to be made on the General Assembly.

The measure covers issuance of specified vitamins to undernourished children by schools and defines voluntary out-of-school group religious instruction for pupils.

It was understood no major changes are proposed in the state's basic school laws although many provisions have been revised to incorporate amendments adopted by past legislatures.

At 38, Walker will start his 21st year as a professional player when he joins the Buc squad one month hence in San Bernardino, Calif.

SEE APPROVAL OF STATE BONUS

Amendment Would Pay $500 Maximum Bonuses To Veterans Of World War II

HARRISBURG, Jan. 20.—(INS)—The constitutional amendment paving the way for payment of maximum $500 bonuses to veterans of World War II headed Wednesday for swift approval by the general assembly.

Payments will range from $10 for each month of stateside service up to $15 for overseas duty under the provisions of a bill adopted by lawmakers during the 1947 session.

The amendment, already passed by one assembly in line with a requirement of the state's constitution, was reported to the floor in the senate yesterday following sponsorship by Sen. Frazier P. Donlan (R) Lackawanna. It is scheduled to be sent to the house for prompt concurrence next Tuesday.

It authorizes the commonwealth to shoulder a $500,000,000 debt to underwrite the bonus cost. The non-controversial amendment was first introduced during the 1947 session of the legislature by Rep. Baker Royer (R) Lancaster.

Under a constitutional provision, the proposal must be sanctioned by the electorate following adoption by the assembly; should approval be given, payments undoubtedly would start around the end of the year.

A companion measure to pay scale bill, appropriated a half million dollars in 1947 to lay the groundwork for the bonus payments to be administered by the department of military affairs.

Hope Wanes For 20 On Missing Plane

MIAMI, Fla., Jan. 20.—(INS)—Hope waned today for the safety of 20 persons aboard a British South American Airways plane missing on a flight between Bermuda and Kingston, Jamaica.

Air and surface craft reported finding no trace of the four-engined transport or its 17 passengers and three crew members after combing a 75,000 square mile area of the Atlantic yesterday.

The airliner dropped from sight Monday an hour after taking off on its 1,000-mile flight. Shortly after it was due at Kingston the SS Santa radioed it had picked up a weak distress signal from the plane but could not fix its position.

Part Of Blame For Air Disaster Placed

SEATTLE WASH., Jan. 20.—(INS)—Lack of adequate fire-fighting equipment at Boeing Field was given a share of the blame today for the death of 11 Yale crew members in the crash of their chartered plane.

The twin-engined DC-3 had been hired to take 27 Yale University students back to New Haven after Christmas holiday visits to their homes in the Pacific northwest.

Joel L. Crouch of Seattle, speaking for the Airline Pilots' Association, blamed the Civil Aeronautics Administration for not requiring adequate fire-fighting equipment at the airport. Speaking at a CAA hearing into the crash, Crouch declared:

"The CAA is to blame for not insisting on adequate ground emergency equipment at commercial airfields."

Truman Breakfasts With Members Of His War Command

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—(INS)—President Truman began his inauguration day by breakfasting happily with the men he called his "real friends"—his wartime comrades of Battery D.

The chief executive arrived at 6:48 a. m. EST for his inaugural reunion with the artillery outfit he led in France more than 30 years ago.

Mr. Truman told the 98 old time artillery men who gathered in the Sapphire room of the Mayflower hotel:

"This is a real tribute. I thank you from the bottom of my heart for coming to Washington."

Eddie Schmidt, secretary-treasurer of the Battery D Association presented the president with a "marshall's baton"—a gold headed walking stick. Accepting the gift, Mr. Truman said:

"This is something I can use every morning . . . and something that my daughter can perhaps some day give to my grandson."

All-America Pro Conference Will Not Dissolve

All Eight Teams To Start In 1949

By CHARLES EINHORN
(International News Service Sports Writer)
CHICAGO, Jan. 20.—The unprecedented spectacle of four big league football teams in one city loomed today with the apparent resolve of the All-America Football Conference to continue as an eight-team entity.

Whipped into line by its brilliant executive chairman, Ben Lindheimer, the AAC announced yesterday it definitely will operate in 1949. He was expected to state further today that all eight teams that comprised the AAC last season will be around for 49.

Boston Moving
With the Boston Yanks of the rival National league already having announced their intentions to move into New York, the perseverance of the All-America would give Gotham four teams: the ex-Boston Yanks and New York Giants of the National and the New York Yanks and the Brooklyn Dodgers of the AAC.

For frustrated National football leaguers, who came to Chicago for their winter meetings yesterday expecting to catch the All-America as it fell, all this came as unpleasant tidings. Bent on dictating peace on their own terms, the Nationals seemed instead about to be met head-on with a counter-proposal from the All-America, to this effect.

The AAC will agree to peace only on a two-league basis.

Secret Sessions
The All-America's secret sessions in Lindheimer's sanctum were presumed to have undergone a noticeable change of character. Most AAC members came to Chicago accepting the demise of the Rockets and Dodgers as an accomplished fact. But when it became apparent that the top Cleveland and San Francisco moguls would not sit still for a six-team AAC next season, Lindheimer pulled the switch.

In contriving thus to force an equitable showdown with the National league, the All-America ran into the usual political response. Assembled National leaguers, who held a rules meeting of no particular consequence last night, took the AAC's announced intention to continue in 1949 with serene detachment.

Will Youth Win Monday's Fight?

Chuck Higgins Says "Yes," But Biddle Claims His Experience Will Win

When fans trek into the Arena Monday night, they'll witness a glove duel between a veteran, Jack Biddle of New Castle, and a youngster, Chuck Higgins of Campbell, O. They're middleweights. Because of the disparity between their ages there arises the query: "Will youth be served?" Jack claims not. Chuck maintains he will win, and do so by a knockout.

Should Chuck knock out Biddle will have been only the second time Jack was knocked out clean. In 327 fights, he says he was only knocked out once, although he admits to several technical knockouts, and says: "Yes, I was on the floor, but I always got up, and sometimes won, after getting up" because I was in good condition.

Biddle has an interesting record, one which started in the Dime stable in 1929, and which he claims is not at its fat end, although he is in his 30's. During the score years he has been fighting, he boxed all over the U. S., in Hawaii and while a sailor. He served eight years in the Navy.

Boxed Two Champions
He defeated Al Hostak in an overweight match in Seattle, when Hostak was middleweight champion. He also fought Ken Overman, who was 160-pound champion, but dropped the decision. Among others he boxed were Solly Krieger, Babe Risko, and won the 160 pound Hawaiian title from Red Farmer.

"You must have made a pile of dough" during 20 years fighting," the writer suggested.

"Yes, I made a lot, but like the rest of the fight crowd, I was unable to hold onto it," Jack replied.

He said his biggest purse was $9,000, which was his end of the fight he had with Hostak in Seattle.

Chuck Higgins lacks Biddle's experience. It is doubtful if he is harder than Jack does with his left hook. However, he punches good, as his knockouts of Mike Berskovitch and Larry Huff show. Chuck believes his vim and vigor, plus his youth will return him winner.

Tommy Leach, match maker, Jefferson, A. C. today reported Tommy Woodward of Columbus, would take the place of Jack Kendall against Billy Pozza. They are heavyweights.

Bill Bradley, Johnny Izzo, Russell Baxter, Duke Peaks, Ray Miller and Kenny Rose are also on Monday night's card.

Donkey Olympics Has Town Excited

A big cavalcade awaits the people of New Castle and Lawrence county next Wednesday night, January 26, at the Arena on Grove street. The New Castle Lions club is sponsoring the laugh-provoking Donkey Olympics for their blind fund activity.

Donkey Olympic, something new in the amusement world, is guaranteed to chase the blues. It's a laugh-a-minute gigantic two-hour show, staged on the backs of donkeys.

Tremendous Hit
Miss Minnie B. Riley of Kansas City is here staging the Olympics. The donkeys have made a tremendous hit everywhere in the country. You won't want to miss this show next Wednesday (better mark your calendar).

Picture if you can staid dignified members of the Lions club riding donkeys and participating in basketball, polo, archery, blind-folded boxing and a "Lady Godiva peeling seal," also a tug-of-war, on donkeys.

For the kiddies there will be clowns, Indians and blackface comedians. The New Castle High band is being contacted to furnish the musical background. A number of local girls will form the personality group for the show.

All-Local Cast
The show will be staged with an all-local cast, including the members of the Lions club. The cavalcade of acts will appeal to persons of all ages. Tickets are being put on sale for $1 for adults and 50 cents for students and children.

Ecclesians Club Tops Alpha Sigs

The City-County floor league leaders, the Ecclesians club went to New Wilmington Tuesday night and defeated the Alpha Sigma Phi team in a postponed league tilt, 48 to 34, with Harp Janacone and Mike Chippa the scoring stars. Connors was best for the losers. Coach Sammy Bullano used his reserves for almost three quarters. The Ecclesians are looking forward to the game Saturday with the powerful George "Chick" Patterson Elks club five.

Lafayette Blocks Williamson Leaving

EASTON, Pa., Jan. 20.—(INS)—Lafayette college put up a stop sign Wednesday in the path of football coach Ivan Williamson, said to be negotiating for the vacant 1949 post at Wisconsin.

Lafayette President Ralph C. Hutchison said acceptance by Williamson on any outside offer would violate the latter's contract with Lafayette which has a year to run and prohibits him from asking for his release.

BEAGLERS TO HOLD FUN TRIAL SUNDAY
Shenango Valley Beagle club will hold the second Fun Trial at 8:30 a. m. Sunday. A meeting will be held at two o'clock to arrange for the Tewell Trophy trial.

EIGHTEEN GIANTS ARE NOW IN FOLD

NEW YORK, Jan. 20.—(INS)—Eighteen New York Giants are in the club's "satisfied for 1949" group.

The Giants announced receipt of signed contracts from pitchers Dave Koslo and two minor league recruits.

The new additions are right-hander George Spencer, who compiled an 11-8 record with Knoxville last season and outfielder Pete Milne, who hit .278 for Jersey City.

Four Good Games Scheduled Friday For Section 23

Wampum High Indians hit the warpath trail to Bessemer tomorrow night for an assault on the in and out Cementers in the feature game on Friday's Section 23 schedule.

Butler Hennon's cagers caused the lifting of more than a few eyebrows Tuesday night when they defeated Mt. Jackson 54 to 50. However, once you get a winning streak and are established as "the" team in the circuit, all other clubs start pointing for that upset win.

Wampum's classy performers, headed by Ray Armatorio and Allen Lewis, will be seeking their sixth straight win in league play.

Bessemer Rebounding
Bessemer is currently sporting a 2 and 3 record. The Cicconemen lost one point overtime match with New Wilmington and then started looking like real champs with convincing wins over Princeton and Shenango. Tuesday night, Union trounced Bessemer by 12 points.

New Wilmington, Aust Anderson, Chuck Stanley and company may be rebounding after that loss to the Scotties and give Wampum plenty of headaches.

Shenango is preparing to meet the New Wilmington Greyhounds in the college town tomorrow evening. The Wildcats own wins over Princeton and East Brook, and have been playing better ball each week. New Wilmington managed to squeeze past East Brook on the strength of a tremendous third period rally and the Eagleson crew will have to be playing their best brand of basketball if they are to down Eddie Nahas' youngsters.

East Brook, winless since an opening victory over Bessemer, meets the Mounties on the latter's home floor. The Mathews cagers have given all comers a tough battle and figure to do the same out at North Beaver. Mt. Jackson had all the pressure removed from them as a result of that 4-point loss at Wampum, but still consider themselves in a good position to cop a portion of the sectional crown.

Pirates Advance Sale Is $525,000

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 20.—(INS)—The Pittsburgh Pirates today had a fat $525,000 advance sale in the till besides returning another $100,000 rather than disappoint any customers.

General Manager Roy Hamey said this year's advance totals both 1947 and 1948, when they had $309,000 and $448,000 respectively to start the season.

The Bucs were hoping it was an indication they would top their record 1948 attendance of 1,517,021 this year.

FOWLER SIGNS WITH ATHLETICS

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 20.—(INS)—The receipt of a signed contract from Dick Fowler brought to 11 today the number of players ready to start the season with Connie Mack's Athletics.

Fowler was the mainstay of the mound staff last year, with a record of 15 and 8.

Princeton At Union

Princeton meets a revitalized Union Scottie at Union in the fourth game scheduled for Friday night action. Union has defeated their old rivals, Shenango and Bessemer, already this season and plan to employ the same winning formula against the Bearcats. Princeton, on the other hand has yet to gain its first win in sectional play. They have given most of the top teams a real game. A few breaks plus a hot night for Bill Jones will put the Bearcats on the win side of the standings and that situation may develop any time Princeton goes to the post.

Mayor O'Dwyer Honors Stars

NEW YORK, Jan. 20.—(INS)—Lou Boudreau, player-manager of the world champion Cleveland Indians, was one of a half-dozen 1948 sport field's elite honored at a special New York City Hall reception Wednesday.

Also on Mayor William O'Dwyer's list of invited guests at the function were the following: . . . Harrison Dillard, Olympic 100-metre champion; Oak Walker, Southern Methodist backfield ace and winner of the Heisman award as the year's outstanding college player; Jack Kramer, professional tennis champion; Ralph Beard, top man of Kentucky's unbeaten basketball team; and Frankie Albert, T-former pass-specialist of the San Francisco 49ers.

BILL VEECK SEES INDIANS REPEATING

NEW YORK, Jan. 20.—(INS)—Cleveland Baseball President Bill Veeck made a "rubber stamp" prediction today that the 1949 American league pennant race will end the same way it did last year.

Veeck said it will be Cleveland, Boston, and New York, in that order with Philadelphia rounding out the first division.

Without resorting to a crystal ball the Tribe prexy picked St. Louis to head the list of second division clubs.

Owl, Hawk Or Fox Killing Rabbits

Horn owl or fox are killing rabbits on the Shenango Valley Beagle club area between Volant and New Wilmington, according to John Greer, secretary. Members have found the remains of rabbits. Hence Greer has suggested the control committee set pole traps to control the hawks or owl. He also proposes that a fox hunt be staged.
